Gary A. Robbins, Ph.D. Geologist, specializing in Hydrogeology

Educational and Research Experience

- Professor of Geology, Department of Natural Resources and the Environment at the University of Connecticut
- Conducted research for over 25 years on improving site assessments at contamination sites
- Authored over a hundred articles, reports and presentations
- Author of Expedited Site Assessment: The CD
- Recipient of the U. Connecticut Chancellor's Information Technology Award
- Taught college undergraduate and graduate courses for over 30 years
- Developed and conducted short courses for environmental professionals, state regulators, and Federal regulators on improving site investigations throughout the United States
- Developed patented PEBS method for field screening for volatile organics
- Helped establish mobile site characterization group at CT DEP (SASU)
- Assistant Professor Texas A&M University
- Adjunct Professor at CSU, Fullerton and UC, Riverside

Professional Experience

- Manager, Robbins Consulting Services, LLC (environmental consulting)
- Private consultant to EPA and other Federal Agencies, state regulators, industry, localities throughout US
- Manager, Ram's Horn Educational, LLC (online educational course development)
- Senior Project Hydrogeologist with Woodward-Clyde Consultants
- Project Geologist with Nuclear Regulatory Commission

Professional Affiliations

- Registered Geologist and Engineering Geologist in California
- Educational Committee Member of the Environmental Professional's Organization of Connecticut
- American Institute of Professional Geologists (CPG-06715)
- Geological Society of America (Rep. of Hydrogeology Div. to NE Section, 1988-1991)
- Association of Engineering Geologists (Groundwater Committee Chairman 1983-85)
- National Ground Water Association (Past Associate Editor, Ground Water)
- American Geophysical Union
- International Association of Hydrological Sciences
- Connecticut Geological Society