Presenter Biography

Edward Weagle, LSP, CHMM

Ed Weagle is a Principal Geologist at Roux's Burlington, Massachusetts office, where he provides LSP and environmental consulting services to both private and government entities. His work contains a focus on client-centric and cost-effective regulatory compliance strategies, drawing on 30+ years of experience interpreting the Massachusetts Contingency Plan. Mr. Weagle holds a Bachelor of Science in Geology from UMass Amherst. He has been an LSP for 14 years and has rendered LSP opinions at more than 150 MCP disposal sites. Mr. Weagle is a member of the LSPA's Loss Prevention Committee.

Prior to joining Roux, he most recently served as the environmental team leader of a small environmental, geotechnical, and industrial hygiene consulting firm in Springfield, Massachusetts. At the start of his career, he served 12 years as a MassDEP regulator in both the northeast and western regional offices in various roles in the Bureau of Waste Site Cleanup, including audits, site management, enforcement, and emergency response.
